DETAILED ACTION

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 102

The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless –

(b) the invention was patented or described in a printed publication in this or a foreign country or in public use or on sale in this country, more than one year prior to the date of application for patent in the United States.

Claims 1-3 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(b) as being anticipated by Silverbrook et al. (US 6439908).

Silverbrook et al. teaches a printer cartridge for an inkjet printer (figure 2, element 10) including: printing fluid storage (figure 2, element 16); and a pagewidth (C1, L8) in fluid communication with said printing fluid storage, said printhead including two print chips (figure 2, element 18) which extend the length of the printhead; wherein the two print chips are abut together to extend the length of the printhead (element 18 in figure 2) and the cartridge has an elongated body adapted to be received within a printer cradle (figure 3, element 14).

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

Claim 4 is rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Silverbrook et al. (US 6439908) in view of Torgerson et al. (US 6722759).

Silverbrook et al. teaches a printer cartridge including electrical connectors (C3, L64-65); however, it does not teach electrical connectors located at opposing ends of the printhead and in communication with the at least two printhead chips.

Torgerson et al. teaches electrical connectors (figure 2, element 74) located at opposing ends of the printhead and in communication with the at least two printhead chips (figure 2, element 61).

It would have been obvious to one of ordinary skill in the art at the time of the invention to modify the disclosure of Silverbrook et al. with the invention of Torgerson et al. in order to better control the printhead.
